

NCC DIGITAL SCHOLARSHIP WORKSHOP IN JAPANESE STUDIES

November 15 & 16, 2018
Princeton University
Woodrow Wilson Robertson Hall 023

-- November 15 -- Web Archive

- Welcoming remarks
- <Panel> Moderator: Kristina Troost (Japanese Studies Librarian, Duke University)
- 9:30 – 9:55 Web archive projects at Stanford University
Regan Murphy Kao (Head of Special Collections, Stanford University)
- 9:55 – 10:15 Lessons from DARIAH beyond Europe
Nick Budak (Digital Humanities developer, Princeton University)
- 10:15 – 10:30 Break
- 10:30 – 10:50 Birth of An Ivy+ Web Archive: National Statistical Offices and Central Banks
Joann Donatiello (Population Research Librarian Stokes Library, Princeton University)
- 10:50 – 11: 15 Web Archiving Japan: Thinking Outside the IA Box
Katharine Matsuura (Japanese Digital Humanities Librarian, Harvard University)
- 11:15 – 11:45 Discussions
- 12:00 – 1:30 Lunch with Center for Digital Humanities staff at CDH, Firestone Library
- <Web archive hands-on session>
Instructor: Koko Howell (Digital Content Lead/Web Archive Curator)

-- November 16 -- IIF

9:00 – 12:00 <Lectures and discussion on IIF>

Kiyonori Nagasaki (International Institute of Digital Humanities)

Satoru Nakamura (The University of Tokyo)

- IIF and automatic image coloring technology
- Heat map as a method for log analysis
- IIF Hosting
- Examples of IIF utilization
Collective images, Annotation, Curation, Crowdsourcing
 - IIF and TEI
 - Omeka
- Hands-on session

12:00 – 1:30 <Lunch>

1:30 -- 4:30 <Hands-on sessions and discussions>

- IIF curation viewer
- Omeka plus IIF tool kit
 - Annotation to maps
 - Exhibition of maps
- Consultation/suggestions on projects of participants
- Discussion